AREMIS Cookie Policy (June 2024 Version)

A cookie is a small text file that can be stored on your computer when you visit websites. Information is recorded in a text file such as your language preference for a website. When you visit the website again later, this cookie is sent back to the website in question. In this way, the website recognizes your browser and can, for example, remember your language preference.

Cookies also generally have an expiration date. Some cookies are automatically deleted when you close your browser (so-called session cookies), while others remain on your computer longer, sometimes even until you delete them manually (so-called persistent cookies).

Why do we use cookies?

AREMIS, the manager of this website, uses four types of cookies on its website:

- Essential cookies;
- Functional cookies;
- Analytical cookies;
- Third-party cookies.

To manage the content of its website, AREMIS places essential and functional cookies. These cookies are necessary for the correct functioning of this website. It is not possible to refuse these cookies if you want to visit our website. The lists of these essential and functional cookies are listed below.

AREMIS also uses Google Analytics for analytical purposes. This analysis tool installs cookies that we use to quantify visits (traffic) on the website. This allows us, for example, to know how many times a particular page has been read. We use this information solely to improve the content of our website or as a basis for a new campaign on a certain topic that attracts a lot of interest.

AREMIS also uses several sharing buttons on its site as well as videos hosted on YouTube or content from LinkedIn. These features use third-party cookies directly deposited by these third-party services. The list of these cookies is listed below.

ESSENTIAL COOKIES

These cookies are required for purely technical reasons for a normal visit to the website. Given the technical necessity, only an obligation of information applies, and these cookies are placed as soon as you access the website.

FUNCTIONAL COOKIES

You cannot refuse these cookies if you wish to browse this website, but they are only placed after a choice has been made regarding the placement of cookies.
